resent Structure Over the Natchaug Considered Too Narrow and Un-

No meeting of recent years has made such an impression upon the civic life of this city as has the board of trade such an impression upon the civic life of this city as has the board of trade meeting Thursday evening. As fine a representation of the leading men of the city, irrespective of party affiliations, discussed public questions on their merit. Reference should have been made Priday to the proposed new bridge over the Natchaug river. Gen. Hoss, Town Clerk Fenton and others favored the measure, on the ground that the present bridge was too narrow and is unsafe. The interest in the proposed amendment to the city charter, creating the office of city engineer with a life tenure of office is intense. The public sentiment seems in favor of holding up the bill, so the appointment will be made for a two-year term as is the policy in the case of other city officials. It should be repeated that Representative Bugbee stated he knew nothing of this measure in advance of the committee hearing.

Edward Bigelow, Danielson, charged with assault with intent to kill, this growing out of his threatening Paul Dubuc, Danielson, with a revolver, was placed on probation for one year, in charge of Judge Arthur G. Bill as probation officer to whom he is to report regularly. Judge Bill, who prosecuted Bigelow in the town court of Killingly, made a statement to the court relative to the case and said that Bigelow had a place to fill if released.

Edward Farnum, arrested in Ashford a few days ago, was fortunate in having his case noiled. Farnum was arrested for breach of the peace after he had threatened violence to persons in that town and had said semething about destroying property. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff John Fitts of Hampton.

Sheriff P. B. Sibley, Danielson, announced to Farnum, who came to be known as the wild west prisoner, that the case had been noiled. Farnum received the announcement with great satisfaction. He is about 36 and has been traveling about the country with a trained animal show. The high wind Friday cracked the hig plate glass window in the post office into four pieces. Policeman P. B. Driscoli, in shooting at the burglars on the morning of February 15, put two bullet holes through the glass and when the safe was blown a piece of the drips from made a hole in the of the flying iron made a hole in the top near the sush, and a single long crack was found across the pane. Thus crack was found across the pane. Thus weakened, the glass could not stand the pressure of Friday's half a gale. The glass is 9x8 feet containing 72 square feet, it costs about ninety cents per square foot, which with the setting, freight and other expenses foot in to nearly $100.00. To prevent any possible danger to pedestrians, Mr. Finn had the entire window boarded up Friday afterneon. The insurance company is to replace it at once.
